

Book Club

During 2nd Quarter, you and a group will be reading a book of your choice outside of class and then having class time to complete smaller assignments related to your book. Here's how it all works:

1. Join a group totalling 3-5 members.
2. Find a book that your group is interested in, or choose a book that everyone already wants to read.
3. As a group, you will note the days I have set aside for book club meetings in your Minder Binder. You will need to decide how much you will need to have read before each meeting.
4. As you read, you will be taking notes on your book, SEPARATELY from your INB. You will need to have these to be able to reference during book discussions.
5. Each time you will have a discussion of the section of the book your group has read: what your favorite parts are, what is confusing, and what you think will happen next. Each club member needs to talk and share their opinions; your level of participation determines your grade for that week.
6. During class, you will have several assignments that are related to your book and will help prepare you for your final presentation (see below.)
7. Once you finish your first book, you have a final book presentation. Your job in this final presentation is to show the work you've done over the course of the quarter and try to persuade your classmates to read the book.
